In Marxism and the study of history, historical materialism is a method that explores the developments and changes of human history according to economic factors and natural laws, and is used primarily in the study of history, literature and social sciences. It is also known as historical materialist history, and is one of the main trends of modern history research. The Marxist materialist method of studying history is a development of the methods of historical research established by Marx and Engels.

The method is based on the materialist method of studying history first established by Marx and Engels. However, it is different from the materialist method of studying history, and is based on the historical development of human society; it also focuses on the development and influence of major historical figures. In the development of the materialist method of studying history, it is necessary to distinguish between different methods of studying history, which can be divided into two types: one is the development of materialist methods of studying history, and the other is the development of social and political developments.

The development of materialist methods of studying history is a complex process of development, and it is necessary to integrate the development of different methods of studying history. The development of materialist methods of studying history is not just a process of methodological development, but also a process of integrating different methods of studying history. The materialist method of studying history is based on the historical development of human society; it also focuses on the development and influence of major historical figures. In the development of the materialist method of studying history, it is necessary to distinguish between different methods of studying history, which can be divided into two types: one is the development of materialist methods of studying history, and the other is the development of social and political developments.

The development of materialist methods of studying history is a complex process of development, and it is necessary to integrate the development of different methods of studying history. The development of materialist methods of studying history is not just a process of methodological development, but also a process of integrating different methods of studying history. The materialist method of studying history is based on the historical development of human society; it also focuses on the development and influence of major historical figures. In the development of the materialist method of studying history, it is necessary to distinguish between different methods of studying history, which can be divided into two types: one is the development of materialist methods of studying history, and the other is the development of social and political developments.